

The Graduate School FAMU Feeder Fellowship Guidelines

Florida State University's Graduate School has partnered with the Graduate Feeders Scholars program at Florida A&M University to provide under-represented students the opportunity to pursue graduate degrees.

Duration of Award:

- Four years for doctoral degree-seeking students
- Two years for master's degree-seeking students

Amount of Award Annually:

- $5,000* for each the Fall and Spring semesters; plus
- Tuition waivers for 12 credit hours in the Fall and Spring semesters
- $700 health insurance subsidy

*= This may be a supplement to a departmental offer. FAMU Feeder Fellows may not receive more than one fellowship from The Graduate School at any one time.

Eligibility Guidelines:

- Students applying for funding from Florida State University's Graduate School must successfully complete the Graduate Feeder Scholars Program (GFSP) at Florida A&M University, or be in good standing with the GFSP during their last semester at Florida A&M University; and
- Students must meet minimum standards for admission; and
- Students must be accepted as full-time masters or doctoral students by an academic program by March 1, 2011. No special, part-time, or provisional students will be accepted.
- Students must be U.S. citizens and qualify for need-based funding as determined by the federal government and the Florida State University Office of Financial Aid and for the amounts provided by this award.

Application Deadline:

- March 1st annually

For more information and an application please visit:
www.gradschool.fsu.edu